

YOUNG LADIES'
BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL,
CONDUCTED BY THE SISTERS OF NOTRE DAME,
OREGON CITY.

This establishment is under the superintendence of a society of Ladies, who, in Europe and in the United States, are engaged in the education and instruction of young ladies.

In all institutions of this kind, the moral advancement of the pupils should be considered equally important with the development of their intellectual power,—the heart must be educated as well as the mind, and adorned with those qualities which beautify the manners and render virtue more attractive and amiable. This shall be the especial duty of the Principals of this Institute.

The location of the Academy, remote from the thronged and business part of the city, is one of the most beautiful and advantageous that could have been selected; the building is spacious and airy; and the pleasure grounds are sufficiently extended, offering a delightful resort during the hours of recreation. Special attention will be given to the physical welfare of the pupils. The diet will be abundant and wholesome. The most minute attention shall be paid to the neatness, health and comfort of the pupils; and, in case of sickness, they shall experience the most affectionate and constant attention. Every incentive proper to inspire a laudable emulation and to develop talent, shall be employed. At the end of every two months, the young lady, most distinguished for general good conduct and assiduity in her studies, shall be rewarded by the honorary decoration of a medal.

Every two months, notice will be transmitted to the parents and guardians respecting the conduct, proficiency and health of his daughter and ward. During the hours of recreation, the pupils are always under the mild and efficient care of one or more of the ladies.

The Catholic religion is the only one professed by the ladies of this Institution, but there shall be no interference with the religious principles of those who profess a different creed; nor shall a scholar be allowed at any time to conform to the Catholic religion, without a written or verbal permission of her parents. Uniformity, however, requires that all the boarders should assist at Divine Worship, as performed in this Institution. The system of instruction, commencing with the elements of an English and French education, (the latter, only when requested,) will embrace Orthography, Reading, Grammar, Writing, in various styles, Composition, Arithmetic, Book-keeping, by single and double entry, History, sacred and profane, Ancient and Modern, Chronology, Geography, the use of the Globes and the projection of Maps, Astronomy, Mythology, Botany, Natural Philosophy and Chemistry, Plain Sewing, Embroidery on Lace and Muslin, Bead, Chenille, Shell, Hair, Pearl and Wax Work, Tapestry, etc., Drawing, in crayon, Indian ink, and black lead, Painting, in Oriental style, in water and body colours, Miniature Painting, Music, vocal and instrumental, in a word, all the branches of education, usually taught in the best schools for young ladies, shall be the object of attention and study in this institution.

All letters sent and received, except the correspondence of parents, will be subject to the inspection of the Principal of the Academy. The young ladies may receive visits on Saturday mornings from their parents, brother and sister, uncle and aunt, and such others as are formally authorized by the parents. On the first Saturday in every month, the pupils will be permitted to visit their parents. Those whose parents reside at a distance can obtain leave of temporary absence whenever visited by them, but not oftener than once a month. For the uniform, which is strictly required to be worn on Sundays only, the parents will inquire at the establishment.

Each pupil must be provided with a knife and fork, spoon, two plates, cup and saucer, goblet, basin, chamber pot, four napkins, four towels, six changes, two pair of sheets, two pillow cases, two pair of shoes, and the other clothing in proportion, combs, work box, brushes, etc. The bedding must consist of a straw mattress or a feather bed of about six by two and a half feet, one pillow, and two blankets.

No advance will be made by the Institution for the clothing or other expenses of the pupils, if no sum to meet such expenses be deposited by the parents. This regulation is considered indispensable, and will in all cases be strictly adhered to. No boarder will be received for a shorter time than half a session.

The scholastic year consists of one session, which commences on the first Monday in September and ends about the first of August: at which time a solemn distribution of premiums takes place, followed by an exhibition of specimens of Writing, Drawing, Plain and Fancy Needle Work, etc.
