FINLEY WILD LIFE PICTURES
PACKED WITH REAL THRILLS

Famous Western Naturalist to Present
His "Wonder-Films" - Native
Wild Life Shown

In order to accommodate all who may desire to hear the noted Oregonian, William L. Finley, and to see his splendid films of Western wild-life and scenery, the program committee of which Mrs. A. C. Duddleston is chairman changed the date and place of meeting to Friday, Jan. 23, in the chapel of the Indiana State college.

This is to be a guest day meeting, and each department member may invite three guests. In addition it is expected that a large number of men associated with the Isaac Walton league, or in any way interested in the wonders of the West will avail themselves of the opportunity of meeting William Finley.

Peaks and Pinnacles of the Rockies

A thousand thrills are recorded in the unparalleled scenic and exciting adventures of William L. Finley, noted western naturalist, while filming the shyest and rarest birds and mammals high among the peaks and pinnacles of the Rockies.

The reel entitled "Getting Our Goat," is a chapter of photographic art and the most dramatic ever produced depicting American natural history. Only skill acquired by long experiences could portray so vividly the life of the Rocky Mountain goat, the most daring steeple-jack on the continent.

Unrolling through five reels, or five thousand feet of celluloid ribbon, is an out-door story that inspires a greater love for the grandeur and beauty of America than for any other land. One meets the bighorn or mountain sheep framed among sheer cliffs, deer and wapiti in flower-filled meadows, ptarmigan or snow-grouse nesting in the heather, bears that ambled boldly into camp, marmots among the boulders and conies or pikas, that make hay in the summertime and store little stacks under the rock-slides. The beaver is accustomed to work only after nightfall but the secrets of his life have been revealed through the eyes of the Finley cameras, close-up pictures at home and in the act of bringing in materials and constructing a dam.

Next comes the epic of the pronghorn, the swiftest wild animal on the continent, roaming in greatly decreased numbers in the wide stretch of sand and sage from the base of the Rockies westward to the Cascade range. Never before have these fleet-footed animals been pictured in full action. The chance came when a herd of antelope raced an automobile across a dry alkaline lake-bed and the cameraman cranked as he careened along at forty-five miles an hour.
