

Newspaper

The next best thing to traveling is to hear a traveler talk; the next best thing to hunting is to talk, especially when he can prove his William L. Finley, who for twenty years camped in the Rockies with a moving picture not only talk at City Hall, March 5, at but will substantiate his big yarns with five reels of the birds and animals that he has shot.

Comm. Feb. 19
Some men like to go out with a gun and bring home their game dead; but William L. Finley, who is to be at City Hall, March 5, at 7.30 P. M., goes through the Rocky Mountains with his camera, shoots birds and animals strange to us Eastern folk, and brings them to us, alive, on five thousand feet of film.

Would you see the meadows, the cliffs, the peaks of the Rockies without any further exertion than a trip to the City Hall? William L. Finley will show you all those and the birds and animals living there in his five-reel picture, Camera Hunting on the Great Divide March 5, 7:30 p. m.

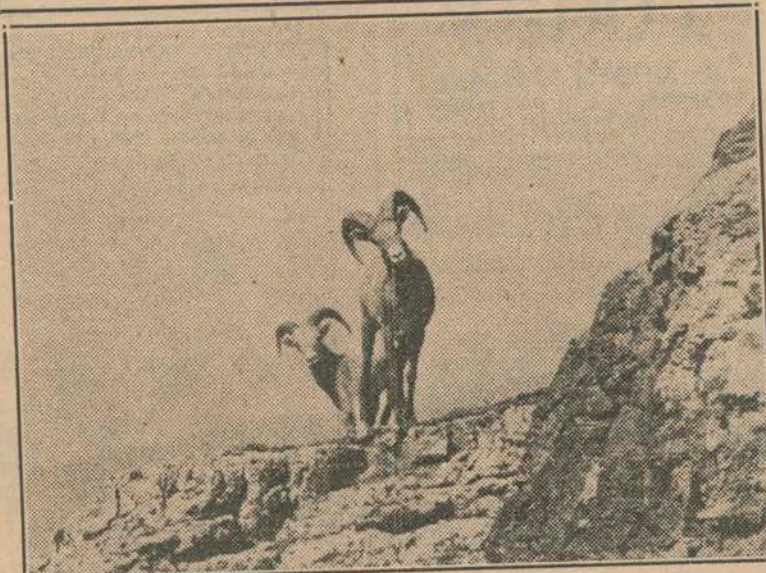

Feb. 26 News

New Feb. 26
Whether or not you like to hunt with a gun you will enjoy the trip with William L. Finley, under the auspices of the Bird Conservation Club, at the City Hall Wednesday evening, March 5, at 7.30. Five thousand feet of film give a thrill with every foot. Come and enjoy it with us.

Comm. Feb. 25
It is not given to many to camp or climb in the Rockies and enjoy their beauty and grandeur at first hand; but through the wonderful work of William L. Finley, who has packed and camped through them for twenty years, Bangor people can enjoy the pleasures without the perils of the trail in City Hall, Wednesday, March 5, beginning at 7:30 P. M.

The Charleston Gazette, Wednesday, March 12, 1914

Wild Sheep Watch Camera for "Birdie"

William L. Finley, naturalist and author, will lecture on "Wild Life on the Continental Divide" at 7:30 o'clock this evening at the Charleston high school. The lecture, which will be under the auspices of the Charleston Woman's club, will be illustrated with motion pictures.

Remember I am in Augusta
FAMOUS NATURE LECTURER TONIGHT
3-6 PENNEY MEMORIAL

At 8 o'clock this evening at the Penney Memorial Church, William L. Finley, famous naturalist, will give to Augusta what is pronounced the most complete and spectacular motion picture story of camera hunting ever made in North America. There is a thrill in every foot when there isn't a big laugh—its one or the other. Dr. Finley who is a most entertaining speaker tells a fascinating story in connection with the "wonder films" shown.

With the noted lecturer tonight in his "Camera Hunting on the Continental Divide" one meets the big-horn or mountain sheep framed among sheer cliffs, deer and wapiti in flower-filled meadows, snow-grouse nesting in the heather, bears that amble boldly into camp, marmots among the boulders, while the secrets of the life of the beaver are revealed through the eyes of the Finley cameras.

Never before have the prong-horn, the swiftest wild animal on the American continent been pictured in full action. The chance came when a herd raced an automobile across a dry alkaline lake-bed and the camera man cranked as he careened along at forty-five miles an hour. This is but one of hundreds of thrilling pictures shown.

Tickets can be secured during the day from members of the Augusta Nature Club or at Sexton's Drug Store, or this evening after seven at the church door.